

[Your business name] — Business Plan

Day spa in [Your city] · Startup plan

Executive summary

[Your business name] is a new day spa in [Your city] offering swedish, deep-tissue and prenatal massage; facials, peels and skincare treatments; body scrubs, wraps and waxing; and spa packages, couples treatments and gift cards. The model is a few calm rooms kept booked by licensed therapists, memberships that bring clients back monthly, and gift cards that carry the quiet months.

Startup budget: $108,900 across 12 items, with funding still to be decided.

Twelve months from now, success looks like this: [What success looks like twelve months from now]

Products and services

[Your business name]'s core treatment is swedish, deep-tissue and prenatal massage. The menu is short and priced clearly, rooms turn in ten minutes with fresh linens and a warm table, and every client leaves with the next appointment booked and a product they can take home.

- Swedish, deep-tissue and prenatal massage
 - Facials, peels and skincare treatments
 - Body scrubs, wraps and waxing
 - Spa packages, couples treatments and gift cards
-

Market analysis

The customers are locals who treat a monthly massage or facial as maintenance, couples and bridal parties booking a package, visitors looking for a spa near their hotel, and gift-card buyers at every holiday.

- Locals who book a monthly massage or facial as maintenance, not a treat
- Couples, bridal parties and friends booking a package for a birthday or a wedding weekend
- Visitors and hotel guests looking for a spa near where they're staying
- Gift-card buyers at the holidays, Mother's Day and Valentine's Day

Marketing strategy

Most clients will find [Your business name] on Google and through word of mouth — searching for a spa or a massage near them, then following the friend who came back glowing. Reviews on the Google Business Profile, the space on Instagram and a website with the treatment menu, online booking and gift cards turn that into a booked room.

- Google Business Profile and Google Maps — “spa near me”, “massage near me” and “facial” plus your city
- Word of mouth — a client who leaves relaxed tells the friend who needs it most
- Instagram for the space, the treatments and seasonal packages
- Hotels, wedding planners and nearby salons and gyms that refer their guests and members
- A website with your treatment menu, prices, online booking, gift cards and reviews

Operations plan

The owner works a room in year one, runs online booking with deposits, keeps every license and inspection current, sells memberships and gift cards all year, and adds therapists only as room-hours fill and the pricing covers their share.

- Online booking with a deposit or a card on file so a no-show doesn't empty a room for an hour
- Every therapist and esthetician licensed by the state, with licenses displayed as the board requires
- Treatment rooms turned in ten minutes: fresh linens, a warm table, the next client's intake already read
- Memberships that bank a treatment a month, and gift cards sold all year and pushed hard from November
- Backbar and retail from one or two professional skincare lines, with therapists retailing what they used

Startup costs

What it will take to open the doors, with funding still to be decided.

Startup costs

ITEM	AMOUNT
Build-out: treatment rooms, plumbing, soundproofing, lighting, a relaxation area and finishes	$47,500
Lease deposit and first months' rent	$12,500
Treatment equipment: massage tables, facial beds, steamers, hot-towel cabinets, magnifying lamps, wax warmers	$15,000
Opening backbar and retail order from one or two professional skincare lines	$6,500
Linens, robes, towels, slippers and a commercial washer and dryer	$4,000
Signage, branding and interior styling	$3,750
General liability and professional liability insurance (first year)	$2,000
State establishment license, massage and esthetics licenses, and inspections	$850
Business registration, LLC and local business license	$300
Booking, gift-card and membership software (first year)	$0
Website with online booking and Google Business Profile	$0
Working capital (first three months)	$16,500
Total	$108,900

Typical range to start a day spa in the US: $40,800–$179,700. Your list is what you decided to spend — replace estimates with real quotes as you get them. Booking, gift-card and membership software (first year): Your Zarla plan includes online booking, gift cards, invoicing and a client contact list with the website — you may still want a point-of-sale system at the front desk. Website with online booking and Google Business Profile: Your Zarla plan includes the website with online booking and gift cards and walks you through your Google Business Profile — a designer typically charges $1,500 or more to build one.

Financial plan

The numbers below come from your own startup list and typical monthly costs for a day spa in the US. The build-out and the lease are the fixed bet; room-hours booked and the therapists' share decide whether the reserve lasts until the spa is busy.

Typical monthly operating costs for a day spa: $3,600–$27,700 a month, before the owner's own pay.

Add a monthly sales target and the plan will show how long it takes to recover the startup budget.

Typical monthly operating costs

COST	TYPICAL RANGE
Rent and utilities	$2,500–$8,000
Labor (once you hire therapists, estheticians and front desk)	$0–$15,000
Backbar product, oils, wax, linens and laundry	$400–$1,500
Insurance	$100–$300
Booking, gift-card and membership software (included with Zarla)	$0–$200
Marketing, seasonal packages and social content	$300–$1,500
Card processing on treatments and gift cards	$200–$800
Music licensing, tea, water, candles and room amenities	$100–$400

US ranges for a small operation; replace with your own figures as you learn them. Lines marked (included with Zarla) are what those tools cost separately — with Zarla they are part of one monthly plan.

Risks and honest downsides

Every day spa plan should say out loud what can go wrong. For [Your business name], the real risks are:

- Therapists are the product — they leave, take clients with them, and licensed ones are hard to hire everywhere
- A no-show empties a room for an hour you can't resell; deposits and a card on file are the only defense
- Rent runs every day while rooms sit empty on a Tuesday afternoon
- Gift cards are cash now and a liability later — sell them without planning for the redemptions and spring gets tight
- Discount sites train customers to wait for a deal; a spa that lives on them never builds full-price regulars

Licenses, permits and insurance

What [Your business name] needs before it can legally trade in the US. Rules vary by state and city — confirm each item with your local licensing office and an accountant.

- State massage therapy license — Nearly every US state licenses massage therapists — typically 500–1,000 hours of approved training and a national exam — and a few leave it to cities and counties. Every therapist on your table must hold the license your state requires.
 - State esthetician license — Every US state licenses estheticians through its cosmetology board for facials, peels and waxing, with training hours that vary widely by state; some treatments (deeper peels, certain devices) are restricted to medical settings.
 - Establishment license — Most US states license the spa itself as a salon, spa or massage establishment separate from the people working in it, with an inspection before opening. Some cities also require a separate massage-establishment permit from the city or the police department — check yours before signing a lease.
 - Local business license and certificate of occupancy — From your city or county in most of the US; the build-out's plumbing, ventilation and sanitation get inspected before you open.
 - Gift-card rules — Federal rules bar expiry inside five years, and many states go further — no expiry at all, or unclaimed balances owed to the state. Write your gift-card terms to your state's rules.
 - Insurance and music licensing — General liability plus professional liability for every therapist and esthetician, workers' compensation once you have employees, and performance licenses for the music playing in your rooms.
-

Milestones: the next 30 days

The first month's to-do list for [Your business name], in order:

- Confirm your own massage or esthetician license and find out what the establishment license and inspection require
 - Walk former spa, salon and massage spaces before committing to a fresh build-out
 - Register the business, get an EIN and open a business bank account
 - Get general and professional liability quotes and check your state's gift-card rules
 - Choose one or two professional skincare lines and price the opening backbar and retail order
 - Set up a free Google Business Profile and put your website with online booking and gift cards live
 - Pre-sell founding memberships to your first 30 clients before opening day
 - Ask every client for a Google review while they're still relaxed at the front desk
-

Appendix: what a lender will ask for

This plan tells the story and shows the numbers. If you take it to a bank, expect to be asked for these documents as well:

- Two years of personal tax returns and a personal financial statement
- A month-by-month 12-month cash-flow projection built on room-hours booked and the therapists' share, not a full book from day one
- The lease or letter of intent, and quotes for the build-out and equipment
- Your massage or esthetics license and any history of a full book at a previous spa
- Founding-membership pre-sales and any hotel or wedding-planner referral agreements
- Your credit report and the equipment as collateral

Template: replace every [bracketed] line and every estimate with your own figures. Written with Zarla's free business plan generator — zarla.com/business-plan-generator writes it from five questions.

Written with Zarla · zarla.com/business-plan-generator